Production of Open Educational Resources (OER)

UNM UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES

For more information, please see

oer.unm.edu

or email jschall1@unm.edu

Start here

1. Priming phase

Have you explored OER in your subject area?
- Yes
- No → Consult a librarian

Have you been trained in OER and Copyright?
- Yes
- No → Consult a librarian

Are you confident to begin working with OER?
- Yes
- No → Consult a librarian

2. Pre-production phase

Have you defined your OER project goals?
- Yes
- No → Consult an OER specialist

- Curate existing OER
- Create working docs
- Divide tasks
- Call for volunteers

Do you have enough support?
- Yes
- No → Consult an OER specialist

3. Scoping phase

- Flesh out OER project outline
- Determine media needs
- Select publishing platform

Consult an OER specialist

Do you have sufficient resources?
- Yes
- No → Consult an OER specialist

4. Development phase

- Write/revise content ↔ Get peer review/feedback
- Check IP/Accessibility

Are all major revisions complete?
- Yes
- No → Get peer review/feedback

- Import to Pub Platform
- Format and style
- Perform final QA check

5. Publishing phase

Consult an OER specialist

- Archive OER in IR
- Create export versions

Does the OER meet the initial goals?
- Yes → Distribute to LMS+students
- No → Consult an OER specialist

Link to this document: go.hawaii.edu/WZj

How to use this workflow diagram

This workflow can help you understand the major steps in the production of OER and manage your own progress towards creating OER. Key questions are asked at various points and direction to support from library and OER specialists are included.

Terms and their meaning

OER = Open Educational Resources
IP = Intellectual Property
QA = Quality Assurance
IR = Institutional Repository
LMS = Learning Management System

How to attribute this work

V1 Feb. 2023